Greetings OM. Well, here we go again with that old cliché all hams get tired of listening to, - and you've probably heard it from everyone from your best friend to your XYL; - "Radio is for the birds" - so now you're going to hear it from an expert, - and like it! And you'd better believe it because it's coming from Dr. Curt Childress WBDQH, of Johns Hopkins Univ., Baltimore. He's going to give us a report on some astonishing results of experiments with the insertion of tiny xmtrs in birds. Tentative schedule for his talk is for our Dec. 13 meeting.

Did you ever say "@#!@#!@#!!!" while making up a coax connector? Well after this Friday nite's meeting you'll never want to miss a chance to make one up! That's a Roger, OM. And Dick Freudberg WA1JSN is going to prove it to you. He's going to show us how to "Love those connectors". - (Ed. Note: He's got a long way to go to get me to love the @#!@*#!!! things) Dick is going to give the club a short talk and demonstration on the easiest and best way to make them up so do your blood pressure a favor and don't miss the next meeting.

While we're on the subject of things to come, - let's get a lot more of those Auction Notices distributed around and Please Note - one of the most valuable media we have for advertising the auction is right on our ham bands, - make sure you mention it on every QSO - remember, there are a lot of hams reading the mail. Let's do everything possible to get a record crowd there this year. Also just a reminder, while you're cleaning out that Rest Area for Old Ham Gear and getting it in shape for the auction, remember dear ole WARC with a donation of a choice piece or two. - We need help.
